Japanese III

Notes on Japanese Culture and Communication

The objective of Pimsleur's Japanese programs (I, II, and III) is to introduce you to the language and culture of another country primarily through your ears, and only secondarily through your eyes. This approach is based upon the fact that more than 95 percent of our lives is spent in listening and talking, and less than 5 percent in reading and writing. The most effective and productive way to begin acquiring these necessary communication skills is by actually working with the "language in use," as demonstrated by native speakers of the language being learned.

Efficiency is greatly increased when what you learn first are the most-frequently-used structures and daily life vocabulary, so that you practice with the practical tools you require every day. This carefully selected "core-language" allows the "tutor-on-the-tape" to keep you focused entirely on essential language. This is self-motivating because you will begin to use it immediately and successfully.

Language and culture are so closely intertwined that learning them separately can make you literally
